Dukakis's talk about voting at Baker

Former Governor Michael Dukakis and his wife Kitty Dukakis visited the Baker School Thursday when Brookline's Artbarn Community Theater performed "Get Out the Vote." Actors in fourth through sixth grades in the Red, White and Blue traveling troupes spread their "message of civic responsibility" at area schools during the week before Election Day. Dukakis, a Baker School alumnus participated in a post show talk back, an opportunity for children in the audience to ask about Dukakis's experience as a presidential candidate in 1988 and about his public service.
